and School o

NEW RAPID SHORT HAND,

Nos. 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 N. CHARLES ST.,

Offers Superior Facilities.

Founded in 1864 by the present executive—28 Years of continuous and successful management—Increased annual attendance—Now occupying four buildings—Stands unrivaled in facilities for educating YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN for success in life. In deciding upon a school for their children, PARENTS should send them to THE BEST, because it pays. It may require the expenditure of a few dollars more at first, but it will prove the cheapest in the end. CHEAP tuition is very dear, because it means cheap teachers, cheap surroundings, inferior facilities, and offers NO opportunities for securing POSITIONS for its pupils and graduates. This Institution, owing to its HIGH standard of excellence, has placed in desirable positions more young men and women from Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, than all similar institutions combined. Catalogue and particulars mailed on application.

KOLLERINIA OR VIN. KOLLERIN. COMP.

VIN. KOLLERIN. COMP. contains a concentrated extract of the fresh selected leaves of ERYTHROXYLON COCA, Celery Seed and Chamomile with the finest Wine.

The Celery and Chamomile not only form an excellent combination, but serve to effectually disguise the very disagreeable taste of the fresh COCA leaves.

This preparation is the result of careful study and manipulation. It has been successfully employed where the nervous system has been impaired by organic and functional disturbances.

DOSE.—A dessertspoonful to a tablespoonful every third or fourth hour.

Physicians desiring to prescribe our WINE OF COCA will please specify VIN. KOLLERIN. COMP. to prevent substitution of worthless articles.

The Regular Winter Session begins October 1st and ends April 1st annually, and is one of three annual sessions required for graduation.

The student of medicine is given unsurpassed clinical advantages at this school.

The New College Building. The Faculty takes pride in announcing that the New College Building is complete in all its appointments.

The New City Hospital, a magnificent structure, with a capacity of 300 beds, is situated in the centre of the city. Its position enables it to command most of the accident cases occurring in Baltimore. A systematic course of bedside instruction is given in the wards.

The Maryland Lying-in Asylum, established by this school in 1874, was the pioneer institution of its kind in the State.

The Maryland Woman's Hospital has been merged into and forms an important part of the New Baltimore City Hospital.

The New Colored Hospital. The building formerly known as the Woman's Hospital has been torn down, and a handsome new structure is now open for the reception of patients. It is the first hospital which was ever established in the State of Maryland exclusively for the colored race.

Bay View, the Almshouse of Baltimore, which contains 1200 beds, has been thrown open for the clinical instruction of students of this school.

The City Hospital Dispensary, organized over twenty years ago, has become widespread in its influence and adds largely to the clinical attractions of the school.

Frequent post-mortem examinations are made before the whole class, and the medico-legal bearings of cases are fully discussed.

The Anatomical rooms are spacious and airy, and dissecting material abundant.

The Medical Profession and the Students of Medicine are invited to call and inspect our equipment.

This College is a member of the National Association of Medical Colleges.

THE PRELIMINARY FALL COURSE begins September 1st, continues one month, and is gratis to all students.

THE REGULAR WINTER COURSE begins October 1st, and is the only one counted as one of the regular courses required for graduation.

It has always been the aim of the Faculty of this School to provide for students, opportunities for obtaining a practical medical education. We endeavor, therefore, to have laboratory and clinical work keep pace with the didactic instruction. The wards of the Maryland General Hospital, which is owned and controlled by this College, are filled with patients suffering from almost every form of disease and injury, furnishing a large clinic of medical and surgical cases. Each student is required to complete the course in Anatomical, Chemical, Histological and Pathological Laboratories; each candidate for graduation is required to pursue a course of practical hospital instruction.

The Lying-in Department, thoroughly equipped, furnishes clinics in midwifery, throughout the year, every student witnessing cases of labor and becoming well versed in practical obstetrics. The Gynæcological Department furnishes a large clinic on Diseases of Women. The Eye and Ear Department is well arranged for clinical teaching, and yields abundant material for practical instruction of students on diseases of the eye and ear.

The Baltimore Medical College Dispensary furnishes an out-door clinic of thousands of patients annually. Our clinical facilities are excelled by none.

Our New College Building is ready for reception of students. It is located on Madison St., corner of Linden Ave.; it is five stories high and contains a large lecture hall and modern amphitheatre, each with a seating capacity of 500 students; Faculty room, Dean's Office, large Dispensary and drug room on first floor, large Anatomical, Chemical, Histological and Pathological Laboratories. It is one of the most convenient and typical medical college buildings in the United States.

THE TIMBY SYSTEM

for Heating, Cooling, Ventilating, Refrigerating, Deodorizing, Fumigating, and Disinfecting, as operated by THE NATIONAL HEATING AND VENTILATING COMPANY, and State and other local companies acting under its license, can not but be regarded as one of the greatest inventions of modern times. The attention of Physicians and Hospital authorities is especially invited to a consideration of its merits. It heats in winter, cools in summer, thoroughly ventilates at all times, and deodorizes, fumigates, and disinfects when required so to do, and all this with much less consumption of fuel than any system of steam or hot water yet devised for heating only.

State and other local rights for sale on advantageous terms.

CODE OF ETHICS OF THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION,

ADOPTED MAY, 1847.

OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO THEIR PATIENTS AND OF THE OBLIGATIONS OF PATIENTS TO THEIR PHYSICIANS.

Article I.—Duties of Physicians to their Patients.

SECTION 1. A physician should not only be ever ready to obey the calls of the sick, but his mind ought also to be imbued with the greatness of his mission, and the responsibility he habitually incurs in its discharge. These obligations are the more deep and enduring because there is no tribunal, other than his own conscience, to adjudge penalties for carelessness or neglect. Physicians should therefore minister to the sick with due impressions of the importance of their office; reflecting that the ease, the health, and the lives of those committed to their charge depend on their skill, attention, and fidelity. They should study, also, in their deportment, so as to unite tenderness with firmness, and condescension with authority, so as to inspire the minds of their patients with gratitude, respect, and confidence.

SECT. 2. Every case committed to the charge of a physician should be treated with attention, steadiness, and humanity. Reasonable indulgence should be granted to the mental imbecility and caprices of the sick. Secrecy and delicacy, when required by peculiar circumstances, should be strictly observed; and the familiar and confidential intercourse to which physicians are admitted in their professional visits should be used with discretion, and with the most scrupulous regard to fidelity and honor. The obligation of secrecy extends beyond the period of professional service; none of the privacies of personal and domestic life, no infirmity of disposition or flaw of character, observed during professional attendance, should ever be divulged by the physician, except when he is imperatively required to do so. The force and necessity of this obligation are indeed so great that professional men have, under certain circumstances, been protected in their observance of secrecy by courts of justice.

Sect. 3. Frequent visits to the sick are, in general, requisite, since they enable the physician to arrive at a more perfect knowledge of the disease, to meet promptly every change which may occur, and also to tend to preserve the confidence of the patient. But unnecessary visits are to be avoided, as they give useless anxiety to the patient, tend to diminish the authority of the physician, and render him liable to be suspected of interested motives.

Sect. 4. A physician should not be forward to make gloomy prognostications, because they savor of empiricism, by magnifying the importance of his services in the treatment or cure of the disease. But he should not fail, on proper occasions, to give to the friends of the patient timely notice of danger, when it really occurs; and even to the patient himself, if absolutely necessary. This office, however, is so peculiarly alarming, when executed by him, that it ought to be declined whenever it can be assigned to any other person of sufficient judgment and delicacy. For the physician should be the minister of hope and comfort to the sick; that by such cordials to the drooping spirit he may smooth the bed of death, revive expiring life, and counteract the depressing influence of those maladies which often disturb the tranquillity of the most resigned in their last moments. The life of a sick person can be shortened, not only by the acts, but also by the words or the manner of a physician. It is, therefore, a sacred duty to guard himself carefully in this respect, and to avoid all things which have a tendency to discourage the patient and depress the spirits.

Sect. 5. A physician ought not to abandon a patient because the case is deemed incurable; for his attendance may continue to be highly useful to the patient, and comforting to the relatives around him, even in the last period of fatal malady, by alleviating pain and other symptoms, and by soothing mental anguish. To decline attendance under such circumstances would be sacrificing to fanciful delicacy and mistaken liberality that moral duty which is independent of and far superior to all pecuniary considerations.

SECT. 6. Consultations should be promoted in difficult or protracted cases, as they give rise to confidence, energy, and more enlarged views in practice.

SECT. 7. The opportunity which a physician not unfrequently enjoys of promoting and strengthening the good resolutions of his patients, suffering under the consequences of vicious conduct, ought never to be neglected. His counsels, or even remonstrances, will give satisfaction, not offence, if they be proffered with politeness, and evince a genuine love of virtue, accompanied by a sincere interest in the welfare of the person to whom they are addressed.

Article II.—Obligations of Patients to their Physicians.

SECTION 1. The members of the medical profession, upon whom is enjoined the performance of so many important and arduous duties toward the community, and who are required to make so many sacrifices of comfort, ease, and health for the welfare of those who avail themselves of their services, certainly have a right to expect and require that their patients should entertain a just sense of the duties which they owe to their medical attendants.

SECT. 2. The first duty of a patient is to select, as his medical adviser, one who has received a regular professional education. In no trade or occupation do mankind rely on the skill of an untaught artist; and in medicine, confessedly the most difficult and intricate of the sciences, the world ought not to suppose that knowledge is intuitive.

SECT. 3. Patients should faithfully and unreservedly communicate to their physician the supposed cause of their disease. This is the more important, as many diseases of a mental origin stimulate those depending on external causes, and yet are only to be cured by ministering to the mind diseased. A patient should never be afraid of thus making his physician his friend and adviser; he should always bear in mind that a medical man is under the strongest obligations of secrecy. Even the female sex should never allow feelings of shame or delicacy to prevent their disclosing the seat, symptoms, and causes of complaints peculiar to them. However commendable a modest reserve may be in the common occurrences of life, its strict observance in medicine is often attended with the most serious consequences, and a patient may sink under a painful and loathsome disease, which might have been readily prevented had timely intimation been given to the physician.

OF THE DUTIES OF PHYSICIANS TO EACH OTHER, AND TO THE PROFESSION AT LARGE.

Article I.—Duties for the Support of Professional Character.

SECTION 1. Every individual, on entering the profession, as he becomes thereby entitled to all its privileges and immunities, incurs an obligation to exert his best abilities to maintain its dignity and honor, to exalt its standing, and to extend the bounds of its usefulness. He should, therefore, observe strictly such laws as are instituted for the government of its members; should avoid all contumelious and sarcastic remarks relative to the faculty, as a body; and, while, by unwearied diligence, he resorts to every honorable means of enriching the science, he should entertain a due respect for his seniors, who have, by their labors, brought it to the elevated condition in which he finds it.

SECT. 2. It is not in accord with the interests of the public or the honor of the profession that any physician or medical teacher should examine or sign diplomas or certificates of proficiency for, or otherwise be specially concerned with, the graduation of persons whom they have good reasons to believe intend to support and practice any exclusive and irregular system of medicine. (Sect. 2 was adopted in Richmond, 1881.)

SECT. 3. There is no profession from the members of which greater purity of character and a higher standard of moral excellence is required than the medical; and to attain such eminence is a duty every physician owes alike to his profession and to his patients. It is due to the latter, as without it he cannot command their respect and confidence, and to both because no scientific attainments can compensate for the want of correct moral principles. It is also incumbent upon the faculty to be temperate in all things, for the practice of physics requires the unremitting exercise of a clear and vigorous understanding; and in emergencies, for which no professional man should be unprepared, a steady hand, an acute eye, and an unclouded head may be essential to the well-being, and even to the life of a fellow-creature.

SECT. 4. It is derogatory to the dignity of the profession to resort to public advertisements, or private cards, or handbills, inviting the attention of individuals affected with particular diseases, publicly offering advice and medicine to the poor, gratis, or promising radical cures; or to publish cases and operations in the daily prints, or to suffer such publications to be made; to invite laymen to be present at operations; to boast of cures and remedies; to adduce certificates of skill and success; or to perform any other similar acts. These are the ordinary practices of empirics, and are highly reprehensible in a regular physician.

SECT. 5. Equally derogatory to professional character is it for a physician to hold a patent for any surgical instrument or medicine; or to dispense a secret nostrum whether it be the composition or exclusive property of himself or others. For, if such nostrum be of real efficacy, any concealment regarding it is inconsistent with beneficence and professional liberality; and if mystery alone give it value and importance, such craft implies either disgraceful ignorance or fraudulent avarice. It is also reprehensible for physicians to give certificates attesting the efficacy of patent or secret medicines, or in any way to promote the use of them.

Art. II.—Professional Services of Physicians to Each Other.

SECTION 1. All practitioners of medicine, their wives, and their children while under the parental care, are entitled to the gratuitous services of any one or more of the faculty residing near them, whose assistance may be required. A physician afflicted with disease is usually an incompetent judge of his own case; and the natural anxiety and solicitude which he experiences at the sickness of a wife, a child, or any one who by the ties of consanguinity is rendered peculiarly dear to him, tend to obscure his judgment, and produce timidity and irresolution in his practice. Under such circumstances, medical men are peculiarly dependent upon each other, and kind offices and professional aid should always be cheerfully and gratuitously afforded. Visits ought not, however, to be obtruded officiously, as such unasked civility may give rise to embarrassment, or interfere with that choice on which confidence depends. But, if a distant member of the faculty, whose circumstances are affluent, requests attendance, and an honorarium be offered, it should not be declined, for no pecuniary obligation ought to be imposed which the party receiving it would wish not to incur.

Art. III.—Of the Duties of Physicians as respects Vicarious Offices.

SECTION 1. The affairs of life, the pursuit of health, and the various accidents and contingencies to which a medical man is peculiarly exposed, sometimes require him temporarily to withdraw from his duties to his patients, and to request some of his professional brethren to officiate for him. Compliance with this request is an act of courtesy, which should always be performed with the utmost consideration for the interest and character of the family physician, and when exercised for a short period, all the pecuniary obligations for such service should be awarded to him. But if a member of the profession neglects his business, in quest of pleasure and amusement, he cannot be considered as entitled to the advantages of the frequent and long-continued exercise of this fraternal courtesy, without awarding to the physician who officiates the fees arising from the discharge of his professional duties.

In obstetrical and important surgical cases, which give rise to unusual fatigue, anxiety, and responsibility, it is just that the fees accruing therefrom should be awarded to the physician who officiates.

Art. IV.—Of the Duties of Physicians in Regard to Consultation.

Section 1. In consultations, no rivalship or jealousy should be indulged; candor, probity, and all due respect should be exercised toward the physician having charge of the case.

Sect. 2. In consultations, the attending physician should be the first to propose the necessary questions to the sick; after which the consulting physician should have the opportunity to make such further inquiries of the patient as may be necessary to satisfy him of the true character of the case. Both physicians should then retire to a private place for deliberation, and the one first in attendance should communicate the directions agreed upon to the patient or his friends, as well as any opinions which it may be thought proper to express. But no statement or discussion of it should take place before the patient or his friends, except in the presence of all the faculty attending, and by their common consent, and no opinions or prognostications should be delivered which are not the result of previous deliberation and concurrence.

Sect. 3. In consultation, the physician in attendance should deliver his opinion first; and when there are several consulting, they should deliver their opinions in the order in which they have been called in. No decision, however, should restrain the attending physician from making such variations in the mode of treatment as any subsequent unexpected change in the character of the case may demand. But such variation, and the reason for it, ought to be carefully detailed at the next meeting in consultation. The same privilege belongs also to the consulting physician, if he is sent for in an emergency, when the regular attendant is out of the way, and similar explanations must be made at the next consultation.

SECT. 4. The utmost punctuality should be observed in the visits of physicians when they are to hold consultation together, and this is generally practicable, for society has been considerate enough to allow the plea of a professional engagement to take precedence of all others, and to be an ample reason for the relinquishment of any present occupation. But, as professional engagements may sometimes interfere, and delay one of the parties, the physician who first arrives should wait for his associate a reasonable period, after which the consultation should be considered as postponed to a new appointment. If it be the attending physician who is present, he will, of course, see the patient and prescribe; but if he be the consulting one, he should retire, except in case of emergency, or when he has been called from a considerable distance, in which latter case he may examine the patient, and give his opinion in writing and under seal to be delivered to his associate.

SECT. 5. In consultations, theoretical discussions should be avoided, occasioning perplexity and loss of time; for there may be much diversity of opinion concerning speculative points, with perfect agreement in those modes of practice which are founded, not on hypothesis, but on experience and observation.

SECT. 6. All discussion in consultation should be held as secret and confidential. Neither by words nor manner should any of the parties to a consultation assert or insinuate that any part of the treatment pursued did not receive his assent. The responsibility must be equally divided between the medical attendants; they must equally share the credit of success, as well as the blame of failure.

SECT. 7. As circumstances sometimes occur to render a special consultation desirable when the continued attendance of two physicians might be objectionable to the patient, the member of the faculty whose assistance is required in such cases should sedulously guard against all future unsolicited attendance. As such consultations require an extraordinary portion both of time and attention, at least a double honorarium may be reasonably expected.

Art. V.—Duties of Physicians in Cases of Interference.

SECTION 1. Medicine is a liberal profession, and those admitted into its ranks should found their expectations of practice upon the extent of their qualifications, not on intrigue or artifice.

SECT. 2. A physician in his intercourse with a patient, under the care of another practitioner, should observe the strictest caution and reserve. No meddling inquiries should be made, no disingenuous hints given relative to the nature and treatment of his disorder; nor any course of conduct pursued that may directly or indirectly tend to diminish the trust reposed in the physician employed.

SECT. 3. The same circumspection and reserve should be observed when, from motives of business or friendship, a physician is prompted to visit an individual who is under the direction of another practitioner. Indeed, such visits should be avoided, except under peculiar circumstances; and, when they are made, no particular inquiries should be instituted relative to the nature of the disease or the remedies employed; but the topics of conversation should be as foreign to the case as circumstances will admit.

SECT. 4. A physician ought not to take charge of or prescribe for a patient who has recently been under the care of another member of the faculty in the same illness, except in cases of sudden emergency, or in consultation with the physician previously in attendance, or when the latter has relinquished the case, or been regularly notified that his services are no longer desired. Under such circumstances, no unjust or illiberal insinuations should be thrown out in relation to the conduct or practice previously pursued, which should be justified as far as candor and regard for truth and probity will permit; for it often happens that patients become dissatisfied when they do not experience immediate relief, and, as many diseases are naturally protracted, the want of success in the first stage of treatment affords no evidence of a lack of professional knowledge and skill.

SECT. 5. When a physician is called to an urgent case because the family attendant is not at hand, he ought, unless his assistance in consultation be desired, to resign the care of the patient to the latter immediately upon his arrival.

SECT. 6. It often happens, in cases of sudden illness or of recent accidents or injuries, owing to the alarm and anxiety of friends, that a number of physicians are simultaneously sent for. Under these circumstances, courtesy should assign the patient to the first who arrives, who should select from those present any additional assistance that he may deem necessary. In all such cases, however, the practitioner who officiates should request the family physician, if there be one, to be called, and unless his further assistance be requested, should resign the case to the latter on his arrival.

SECT. 7. When a physician is called to the patient of another practitioner, in consequence of the sickness or absence of the latter, he ought, on the return or recovery of the regular attendant, and with the consent of the patient, to surrender the case.

(The expression "patient of another practitioner" is understood to mean a patient who may have been under the charge of another practitioner at the time of the attack of sickness, or departure from home of the latter, or who may have called for his attendance during his absence or sickness, or in any other manner given it to be understood that he regarded the said physician as his regular medical attendant.)

Art. VI.—Of Pecuniary Acknowledgments.

Some general rules should be adopted by the faculty in every town or district relative to pecuniary acknowledgments from their patients; and it should be deemed a point of honor to adhere to these rules with as much uniformity as varying circumstances will admit.

Art. VII.—Duties of the Profession to the Public.

SECTION 1. As good citizens it is the duty of physicians to be ever vigilant for the welfare of the community, and to bear their part in sustaining its institutions and burdens; they should also be ever ready to give counsel to the public in relation to matters especially appertaining to their profession, as on subjects of medical police, public hygiene, and legal medicine. It is their province to enlighten the public in regard to quarantine regulations; the location, arrangement, and dietaries of hospitals, asylums, schools, prisons, and similar institutions; in relation to the medical police of towns, as drainage, ventilation, etc.; and in regard to measures for the prevention of epidemic and contagious diseases; and when pestilence prevails, it is their duty to face the danger, and to continue their labors for the alleviation of suffering, even at the jeopardy of their own lives.

SECT. 2. Medical men should also be always ready, when called on by the legally constituted authorities, to enlighten coroners' inquests and courts of justice on subjects strictly medical—such as involve questions relating to sanity, legitimacy, murder by poison or other violent means, and in regard to various other subjects embraced in the science of medical jurisprudence. But in these cases, and especially where they are required to make post mortem examination, it is just, in consequence of the time, labor, and skill required, and the responsibility and risk they incur, that the public should award them a proper honorarium.

SECT. 3. There is no profession by the members of which eleemosynary services are more liberally dispensed than the medical; but justice requires that some limit should be placed to the performance of such good offices. Poverty, professional brotherhood, and certain of the public duties referred to in the first section of this article, should always be recognized as presenting valid claims for gratuitous services; but neither institutions endowed by the public or by rich individuals, societies for mutual benefit, for the insurance of lives, or for analogous purposes, nor any profession or occupation, can be admitted to possess such privilege. Nor can it be justly expected of physicians to furnish certificates of inability to serve on juries, to perform military duty, or to testify to the state of health of persons wishing to insure their lives, to obtain pensions, or the like, without a pecuniary acknowledgment. But to individuals in indigent circumstances such professional services should always be cheerfully and freely accorded.

Code of Ethics of the American Institute of Homœopathy.

SCOPE.

The scope of a Code of Medical Ethics comprises the reciprocal duties and obligations of physicians and patients; the duties and obligations of physicians to each other; and the reciprocal duties and obligations of physicians and the public.

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES.

The great principles upon which medical ethics are based are these:—

1. The great end and object of the physician's efforts should be, "the greatest good to the patient."

2. The rule of conduct of physician and patient, and of physicians toward each other, should be the GOLDEN RULE, "As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise."

The various articles of the code are only special applications of these great principles.

Code of Ethics of the National Eclectic Medical Association.

SECTION 1. The members of this Association shall exercise toward each other, toward all physicians—eclectics especially—and toward all mankind that courtesy and just dealing to which every one in his legitimate sphere is entitled, and any departure therefrom shall be deemed unprofessional, undignified, and unworthy the honorable practitioner of an honorable profession. It shall be regarded as unbecoming to engage in any form of practice, or of advertising, which shall tend to lower the physician in the esteem of the community, or to reflect discredit upon his professional associates.

SECT. 2. While it is the undoubted right of every physician to present himself before the public in an honorable manner, and to state that he makes a specialty of any particular disease, no member of this Association shall advertise himself by handbills, circulars, publication of certificates of cures, or any such means; nor associate himself in business professionally with any one so doing; nor advertise himself as belonging to this Association, or any auxiliary medical society, or any medical college. Any member knowing of any violation of this provision by members of this Association, or of any person not a member of this Association or any auxiliary medical society advertising himself as such, shall inform the Executive Committee of the matter, with all the facts in his possession; and it shall be the duty of the Executive Committee thereupon to publish the facts in some public journal circulating in the region where such offence has been committed.

Discipline of Members.

SECTION 1. Any member may be officially censured, invited to withdraw, or expelled from membership, for improper conduct, or a violation of professional comity. But it shall be necessary for a specific charge to be made in writing, and a copy to be presented to the person accused, or some person acting in his behalf, and another placed in the hands of the president or secretary one month before the time of holding a regular meeting.

SECT. 2. All professors or officers of colleges voting and otherwise co-operating in the conferring of the degree of Doctor of Medicine on any person not duly entitled to the same, by the necessary attendance on medical lectures and thorough examinations, shall be considered as liable to the penalties enumerated in this article.

CODE OF DENTAL ETHICS.

ADOPTED AT THE SIXTH ANNUAL SESSION OF THE AMERICAN DENTAL ASSOCIATION.

Article I.—The Duties of the Profession to their Patients.

SECTION 1. The dentist should be ever ready to respond to the wants of his patrons, and should fully recognize the obligations involved in the discharge of his duties toward them. As they are, in most cases, unable to correctly estimate the character of his operations, his own sense of right must guarantee faithfulness in their performance. His manner should be firm, yet kind and sympathizing, so as to gain the respect and confidence of his patients; and even the simplest case committed to his care should receive that attention which is due to operations performed on living sensitive tissue.

SECT. 2. It is not to be expected that the patient will possess a very extended or a very accurate knowledge of professional matters. The dentist should make due allowance for this, patiently explaining many things which may seem quite clear to himself, thus endeavoring to educate the public mind so that it will properly appreciate the beneficent efforts of our profession. He should encourage no false hopes by promising success, when, in the nature of the case, there is uncertainty.

SECT. 3. The dentist should be temperate in all things, keeping both mind and body in the best possible health, that his patients may have the benefit of that clearness of judgment and skill which is their right.

Art. II.—Maintaining Professional Character.

SECTION 1. A member of the dental profession is bound to maintain its honor, and to labor earnestly to extend its sphere of usefulness. He should avoid everything in language and conduct calculated to dishonor his profession, and should ever manifest a due respect for his brethren. The young should show special respect to their seniors; the aged special encouragement to their juniors.

SECT. 2. The person and office arrangements of the dentist should indicate that he is a gentleman; and he should sustain a high-toned moral character.

SECT. 3. It is unprofessional to resort to public advertisements, cards, handbills, posters, or signs, calling attention to peculiar styles of work, lowness of prices, special modes of operating; or to claim superiority over neighboring practitioners; to publish reports of cases or certificates in the public prints; to go from house to house to solicit or perform operations; to circulate or recommend nostrums; or to perform any other similar acts.

SECT. 4. When consulted by the patient of another practitioner, the dentist should guard against inquiries or hints disparaging to the family dentist, or calculated to weaken the patient's confidence in him; and, if the interests of the patient will not be endangered thereby, the case should be temporarily treated, and referred back to the family dentist.

SECT. 5. When general rules shall have been adopted by members of the profession practising in the same localities in relation to fees, it is unprofessional and dishonorable to depart from those rules, except when variation of circumstances requires it. And it is ever to be regarded as unprofessional to warrant operations or work as an inducement to patronage.

Art. III.—The Relative Duties of Dentists and Physicians.

Dental surgery is a specialty in medical science. Physicians and dentists should both bear this in mind. The dentist is professionally limited to diseases of the dental organs and the mouth. With these he should be more familiar than the general practitioner is expected to be; and while he recognizes the superiority of the physician in regard to diseases of the general system, the latter is under equal obligations to respect his higher attainments in his specialty. When this principle governs, there can be no conflict or even diversity of professional interests.

Art. IV.—The Mutual Duties of the Profession and the Public.

Dentists are frequent witnesses, and, at the same time, the best judges of the impositions perpetrated by quacks, and it is their duty to enlighten and warn the public in regard to them. For this and the many other benefits conferred by the competent and honorable dentist, the profession is entitled to the confidence and respect of the public, who should always discriminate in favor of the true man of science and integrity, against the empiric and impostor. The public has no right to tax the time and talents of the profession in examinations, prescriptions, or in any way without proper remuneration.

39. Every person, not now practicing medicine and surgery, who shall hereafter begin to practice medicine and surgery in any of its departments except dentistry, in the State of Maryland, shall possess the qualifications required by this Act.

40. From and after the first Tuesday in June, eighteen hundred and ninety-two, there shall be and continue to be two separate Boards of Medical Examiners for the State of Maryland, one representing the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of the State of Maryland and one representing the Maryland State Homœopathic Medical Society of the State of Maryland; each board shall consist of seven members, and each of said members shall serve for a term of four years or until their successors are appointed and qualified, each board to have exclusive rights to examine, pass upon the qualifications of and license its own applicants, said members of the first or old school board to be appointed by the Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland, of which two shall be from the counties of the Eastern Shore and five from the Western Shore, of which latter number two shall be from the counties west of the Blue Ridge Mountains; and said second or Homœopathic Board to be composed of seven physicians, appointed by the Maryland State Homœopathic Medical Society, of which three shall be residents of Baltimore and four of the State at large; the appointees shall be physicians actually engaged in the practice of medicine and of recognized ability and honor; the term of office of each board shall commence on the first Tuesday in June, 1892; no member of any college or university and no physician having a pecuniary interest in the trade of pharmacy shall be appointed to serve as a member of either of said boards; vacancies occurring in such for unexpired terms shall be filled by the board, in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this section, and for expired terms in same manner as for first appointees.

41. That each Board of Medical Examiners shall meet within thirty days after receiving official notice of their appointment; at the first meeting of each of the boards respectively, an organization shall be effected by the election from their own membership of a president and a secretary; for the purpose of examining applicants for license each of said boards of medical examiners shall hold one or more stated or special meetings in each year, due notice of which shall be made public at such times and places as may be determined by the members thereof respectively; at said stated or special meetings a majority of the members of the board shall constitute a quorum thereof; each of said boards of Medical Examiners shall keep an official register of all applicants for examinations for a license to practice medicine and surgery in this State; said register for license shall show the name, age and last place of residence of each candidate, the school from which he or she may have graduated, and whether such applicant was rejected or licensed under this Act, but such matters shall not be written in said register or made public until after the examination.

42. At the first meeting of an examining board, or at stated or special meeting held subsequently, suitable provisions shall be made by each of the examining boards to prepare a schedule of written examinations upon anatomy, physiology, chemistry, surgery, practice of medicine, materia medica, therapeutics, obstetrics, gynecology, pathology, medical jurisprudence and hygiene, and shall require the same standard of excellence from all candidates; in the department of therapeutics and practice the questions shall be in harmony with the tenets of the school selected by the candidates, the standard of acquirements therein to be established by each board for itself; whenever members of any boards are necessarily absent from meetings held for the examination of applicants for license, suitable temporary provisions shall be made for thorough examination in each and all of the aforesaid subjects by the members present; the examination shall be fundamental in character and such as can be answered in common by all schools of practice; the votes of all the examiners present shall be "yes" or "no," written with their signatures upon the backs of the examination papers of each candidate for the respective branches.

43. That all persons commencing the practice of medicine or surgery in any of its branches after the passage of this Act by the General Assembly shall make a written application for license to the President of either Board of Medical Examiners which said applicant may elect, together with satisfactory proof that the applicant is more than twenty-one years of age, is of good moral character, has obtained a competent common school education, and has either received a diploma conferring upon him the degree of doctor of medicine from some legally incorporated medical college in the United States, or a diploma or license conferring the full right to practice all the branches of medicine and surgery in some foreign country, and has also both studied medicine three years and attended three courses of lectures in different years in some legally incorporated medical college or colleges prior to the granting of said diploma or foreign license; provided that two courses of medical lectures, both of which shall be either begun or completed within the same calendar year, shall not satisfy the above requirements; provided that this condition shall not apply to students in their second year in a medical college, nor to physicians who shall be practicing medicine at the time of the passage of this Act; such proof shall be made, if required, upon affidavit; upon the making of said application and proof and payment of fee as provided, the president of the board to whom such application was made, if satisfied with the same, shall direct the secretary thereof to issue to said applicant an order for examination, and when said applicant shall have passed an examination as to proficiency satisfactory to said board, the president shall grant to such applicant a license to practice medicine and surgery in the State of Maryland.

44. That all examinations shall be conducted in such manner that the name, school of graduation and preparatory training of said applicant shall not be made known to the Board of Examiners until his examination papers have been graded; an applicant receiving the majority of the votes of the board before whom the applicant appears shall be considered to have passed a satisfactory examination and entitled to the license of said board.

45. That a fee of ten dollars shall be paid to the secretary of the Board, before whom the applicant appears, before such examination is had, which said fee shall be applied by said board toward paying the expenses of said board.

46. That the board shall refuse to grant a license to any applicant who may be radically deficient in his examinations in any essential branch; provided, that in case of failure, at any such examination, the candidate, after the expiration of one year from his rejection, shall have the privilege of another examination by the board to which application was first made.

47. That every license to practice medicine and surgery issued pursuant to the provisions of this Act shall be subscribed by the President and Secretary of the Board before whom applicant passed, and by each medical examiner who reported the licentiate as having successfully passed said examinations; it shall also have affixed to it, by the person authorized to fix the same, the seal of said Medical and Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland, or of the Maryland State Homœopathic Medical Society, as the license may require; every such license shall be in following form:

VIRGINIA DENTAL LAW.

SECTION 1767. Who May Practice Dentistry.—From and after the passage of this act it shall be unlawful for any person to engage in the practice of dentistry in the Commonwealth of Virginia, or to assist in the practice of dentistry as either assistant or employee, or to receive license from any commissioner of revenue, unless such person has graduated and received a diploma from the faculty of a reputable institution where this specialty is taught, and chartered under the authority of some one of the United States, or of a foreign government, acknowledged as such, and shall have obtained a certificate from the board of examiners duly appointed under the provisions of section one thousand seven hundred and sixty-eight of Code of eighteen hundred and eighty-seven, to issue such certificates; provided, that persons who shall be engaged in the practice of dentistry in the Commonwealth of Virginia on the first day of January, eighteen hundred and ninety, and who shall comply with the requirements of section one thousand seven hundred and seventy-four of this act, shall be otherwise exempt from the provisions of this section; and provided further, that nothing contained in this section shall prevent a student who is pursuing a regular course of instruction from assisting a person in the practice of dentistry qualified as herein provided, or shall prevent any authorized physician or surgeon from extracting teeth for any one suffering from toothache.

SEC. 1768. Board of Examiners: their Appointment and Terms. The board of examiners shall consist of six practitioners of dentistry, of acknowledged ability in the profession, to be appointed by the Governor. The board shall continue to be divided into three classes with two members each, one of which classes shall go out of office each succeeding year; and the Governor shall annually appoint the successors of each class, as it goes out, for the term of three years. He shall make the appointments in each case from four persons who shall be nominated by the Virginia State Dental Association, and reside in different sections of the State. All vacancies for unexpired terms shall be filled by the Governor on nominations made by the board. If no nominations be made by the said association or board, as the case may be, or the nominations made be not approved by the Governor, he shall appoint such persons as he may deem fit.

SEC. 1769. Their Duties.—It shall be the duty of this board—

First. MEETINGS.—To meet annually at the time and place of meeting of the Virginia State Dental Association, or at such other time and place as the board shall agree upon, to conduct the examination of applicants.

They shall also meet for the same purpose at the call of any four members of the board, at such time and place as may be designated by said members. Thirty days' notice of the meeting shall be given by advertising in at least two of the daily papers published in the State.

Second. EXAMINATION OF APPLICANTS, ETC.—To grant a certificate of ability to practice dentistry to all applicants who undergo a satisfactory examination, and receive at least four affirmative votes; which certificate shall be signed by the members of the board, and be stamped with a suitable seal (which they may adopt).

Third. REGISTRY.—To keep a book in which shall be registered the name and qualification (as far as practicable) of every person to whom such certificate is granted.

SEC. 1770. Transcripts from Record Book, Evidence.—The book so kept shall be a book of record, and transcripts from it, certified by the officer who has it in keeping, with the seal of the board affixed, shall be evidence in any court of this State.

SEC. 1771. Quorum.—Four members of the board shall constitute a quorum; and should a quorum not be present on any day appointed for their meeting, those present may adjourn from time to time, until a quorum be present.

SEC. 1772. Penalties.—Any person who shall, in violation of this chapter, practice dentistry in this State, shall, on conviction thereof, be fined not less than fifty nor more than two hundred dollars, and shall not be entitled to any fee for service rendered; and if a fee shall have been paid, the patient may recover back the same.

SEC. 1773. Disposition of Fines.—All fines collected under this chapter shall go to the public school fund of the county or corporation in which the prosecution is had.

SEC. 1774. Dentists Required to Register.—Every person practicing dentistry in the Commonwealth of Virginia, at the time of the passage of this act, shall register his name and post-office address, together with the name of the college from which he is a graduate, or the length of time he has been practicing in this Commonwealth, with the board of examiners before renewing his license, and it shall be the duty of the board to issue to each person so registering a certificate of registration stamped with the seal of the board, but no fee shall be collected by the board from persons so registering.

SEC. 1775. Fees from Applicants.—To provide a fund to carry out the provisions of section seventeen hundred and sixty-nine, it shall be the duty of the said board to collect from those who appear before them for examination, the sum of ten dollars each.
